

THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN.

Fine Job Work a Specialty.

VOL. XIII.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE PARTY IN THE FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

HARTFORD, KY., FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1901.

Subscription $1 a year.

No. 52.

Don't Marry.

Almost everybody remembers the celebrated advice of the London Punch, "To those about to marry, Don't." There is in that advice the expression of the feeling of many a mother who says, "I hope my daughter will never marry and suffer as I have."

In ninety-eight cases in every hundred there is no need for this suffering. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which cause such misery. It cures the system, drives out the inflammation and restores the system to its normal condition. It cures female weakness. It invigorates the system, organizes the nerves and gives the system the strength to give her children.

Do not allow an unscrupulous dealer to sell you something in place of the "Favorite Prescription," claimed to be "just as good." There is nothing just as good for women as "Favorite Prescription."

"I am so pleased with your instructions, I hardly know what to say to you for your kind letters," writes Mrs. M. B. Bryant of Los Angeles, Cal. "You can publish my few words to the world, hoping all suffering women will know and be healed. I suffered so much with great pain in my back and the lower part of my stomach and pelvis, but after taking three bottles of your Favorite Prescription, I feel like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure sick headache.

PROFESSIONAL.
M. L. HEAVRIN,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties and of Appeals. Special attention given to collection.

ERNEST WOODWARD,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties. Prompt and careful consideration given to all business entrusted to him. Office over Ohio County Bank.

JNO. B. WILSON,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Special attention given to collections, making abstracts, etc. Also, Notary Public for Ohio county. Office north side public square.

C. E. SMITH,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties and of Appeals. Special attention given to collection.

F. L. FELIX,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to him. Office in building.

J. E. DAVIDSON,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties. Special attention given to all business entrusted to him. Office in courthouse.

S. P. ROBY,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties and of Appeals. Special attention given to collection.

JOHN P. MORTON,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Special attention given to all business entrusted to him. Office in courthouse.

C. M. BARNETT,
Attorney at Law,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties. Special attention given to collection.

BECKHAM'S CONDUCT

In Exercising Executive Clemency, Vicious and Intensely Partizan.

Knott and Breckinridge on the Little Boy's Course.

The Evening Post believed last fall and we believe now, that the position Mr. Beckham took in order to embarrass Mr. Yerkes—declaring he would pardon no one convicted by a legal jury—was unethical, and it appears that Mr. Beckham has himself abandoned it. In the Pike county paragon the Governor puts these reasons on record:

"After a careful and patient examination of the record and papers in these cases, I am convinced that these men are entirely innocent of the charges against them, and that their action in the affair was one of self-defense. The trouble was an unfortunate one, arising out of political differences, and there is no doubt in my mind but that if the political features of this case were reversed and these defendants had belonged to the dominant element in Pike county, they would have been dismissed on examining trial, never indicted at all, and would have been the object of special admiration of their partisan supporters. The record in this matter discloses as clear a case of self-defense as was ever presented to me, and these defendants simply protected themselves against the assaults of a lot of bullies, who had previously uttered their threats to overcome them or die in the attempt."

"The defendant, Keene Bevins, fired no shot until he was shot himself in the body, and fatally, as he thought, and his aged and gray-haired father had been struck on the head and covered with blood by one of these assailants. He is also charged with killing one Andy Justice in the effray who was one of his friends, but the affidavit of the foreman of the grand jury at the April term and the evidence in the case show conclusively that Andy Justice was killed by one of the attacking party, whose political affiliations seem to have secured them immunity from indictment. The affidavit of the foreman gives strong evidence of a political prejudice against these defendants, and the termination upon the part of the prosecutors to wreck vengeance upon them through the instrumentality of the court. Justice seems to have been denied them; bail was refused them for a long while, and their only remedy is through executive clemency. While of itself it is no excuse for them, it is nevertheless a singular fact that no indictment whatever was found against the attacking party."

"In reference to the grand jury of the January term of this court, which indicted the defendants, I quote from a letter of one of the officials of Pike county, who says: 'It was so arranged that every member of the grand jury was a Republican and one of said number was the father-in-law of said deceased Dick Ep Justice.'"

"A large number of the very best citizens in Pike county, by their letters on file in this case, and in many instances by personal statements to me, show undoubtedly that these men have been grievously wronged; that justice has been denied them; that Keene Bevins should have been acquitted, and that these other defendants could not secure a fair, impartial trial under the conditions that now exist there. No one could read the record in this case without coming to the conclusion that these men simply did what any other man has a right to do in the defense of his life and lawful rights. Their character as law-abiding, peaceful citizens is vouched for by a large number of the best people in that section. Believing, therefore, that they are innocent of any crime in the matter, and that they have not received justice, I grant a pardon to Keene Bevins, who has already been convicted for seven years in the penitentiary, and to the other defendants, because, he, being guiltless, they are, too."

J. C. W. BECKHAM,
Governor.

In this case and in the Alvey case we think the Governor's reasons carry him to an extreme in the opposite direction from the position taken in his campaign. He hears one side, and on this evidence he determines the whole matter. In this case, as in the Jefferson county gambling case, the action of the Governor is an indictment of the court. Col. Breckinridge is a lawyer of wide experience, as well as an able editor, and we adopt his words as our own on this feature of these cases:

"The substance of what the Governor alleges is that the evidence of partisan passion in the trial is sufficient not only to justify, but to demand the exercise of executive clemency. We are not prepared to deny the justice of this conclusion. We believe that every citizen is entitled to a fair and impartial trial in a court in which justice reigns and the law rules. We believe there is no crime in the whole catalogue of crimes, more heinous, more dangerous than the prostitution of the courts of justice to partisan hate and the punishment of innocent persons by that prostitution of the courts of justice. Courts are the protection of the weak. They are the barrier against the outrages of the strong. Upright and fearless courts can preserve the rights and liberties of the citizen against any temporary encroachment, and usurpation will be only temporary if our courts are upright, courageous and impartial. The Herald has stood in season and out of season during these unhappy years for just courts, for impartial tribunals and for the honest administration of the law; and it stands so to-day, whether the court be Republican or Democratic; whether the accused be Democratic or Republican; it protests against and denounces any partisan action of a Republican grand jury, petit jury or judge with equal earnestness as it has protested against and denounced the action of Democratic tribunals."

"For years it has been said that the grand juries of Franklin county were composed always of at least nine Democrats; that these grand juries were so selected as to put themselves entirely under the control of the prosecuting Attorney. And it will be remembered that in the celebrated case where Messrs. Hallam and Hardin were fined by the Judge of the Franklin Circuit Court for contempt of the indictment found by the grand jury against John Whalen was set aside because of the peculiar and censurable mode in which that grand jury was selected and impeached. In the trials of Powers, Howard and Yontsey the petit juries were selected by Democratic sheriffs; and at one time, in one precinct, several scores of venturers were selected, every one of whom was a Democrat but one, and he selected by mistake because his name was precisely the same as that of his Democratic neighbor; and the juries which convicted these men were understood to be partisan juries. In those cases the present Governor openly proclaimed from one end of Kentucky to the other that in no event would the pardon be granted to any of these men. We fail to distinguish any distinction between those cases and what the Governor alleges to be the facts concerning the persons to whom he has extended his clemency."

In his inaugural address, Mr. Jefferson stated as one of the principles essential to the perpetuation of free institutions, "trial by juries impartially selected." Because the Evening Post has in season and out of season held up this declaration before the people of Kentucky we have been denounced as an assassin's organ. We reaffirm it and repeat it, and will not abandon it because Gov. Beckham supports it. It is far better that half a dozen guilty men escape than that one innocent man remain for months or years in prison, the victim of different courts, convicted by partisan juries.—Louisville Post.

Look! A Sitch in Time
Save nine. Hughes' Tonic (taste pleasant) taken in early Spring and Fall prevents Chills, Rheuma and Malarial Fevers. Acts on the Liver, tones up the system. Better than Colman's and Quinine. Contains no Arsenic, try it. At Drugists. Six and $1.00 bottles.

The Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co.
(INCORPORATED.)
Operating exchanges and toll lines in Kentucky, Indiana, Mississippi and connected by its Long Distance line with all principal points in thirty five States and Territories, is establishing an exchange in Hartford, Beaver Dam, Rensselaer, Henderson, Centerville and surrounding country.

They wish to make their service as comprehensive and valuable as possible and make a specialty of furnishing service to parties living in the country within a reasonable distance of the exchange.

Rates and other information may be obtained at the exchange over Williams' Drug Store, Hartford, Ky.
C. S. McCULLOUGH,
Manager.

We can start a young man or lady in the Southern Normal College at Bowling Green might cheap. Call and get our scholarship and go to school.

To eradicate worms from the system give the child plain, nourishing food and White's Cream Vermifuge. The result will be, the worms will disappear and the child become healthy and cheerful. Price 25 cts. J. H. Williams.

We believe that Mr. William J. Bryan is just now, like the "Innocent Abroad" who called on the Czár, an "American citizen traveling purely for pleasure" and was at the Pan-American as a visitor rather than as an exhibit. But the dispatches sent out by the press correspondents at the big fair were of a nature to produce the exactly contrary impression—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

When you want a modern, up-to-date physic, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Z. Wayne Griffin's drug store.

The Democratic politicians are so fully occupied in making bad predictions that they have no time to extend their predictions to the future. Popular Bluff (Mo.) Republican.

WHAT IT WOULD COST.

Danger to Business Interests, Involved in a Reopening of Tariff Agitation.

Those sanguine Democrats who see in the Babcock Anti-Trust bill and the hung-up reciprocity treaties a chance to reopen the tariff question and plunge the nation into another controversy are reckoning without one important factor in the situation.

That is the great, solid business interests of the United States. Those interests know well from their own experience between 1884 and 1896 that nothing so sits like a nightmare on business, stifling new enterprises and paralyzing all calculations, as an agitation for "tariff reform." Our merchants and manufacturers had a dozen years of this. They have an acute memory of it; they do not like it. It culminated in the disastrous Gorman-Wilson act, a hodge-podge so grotesque that the very President who was responsible for it refused to sign it. This Gorman-Wilson act was one of the causes which produced the hard times of 1894-97. In the opinion of so conservative a statesman as the senior Senator of Massachusetts this tariff agitation and the stupid and vicious legislation in which it resulted cost the American people more than the four years of the great Civil War.

Now there are no business men in this country who wish to repeat that experience of 1894-97. It makes no matter whether they are Republicans, Democrats, Mugwumps or Populists—they are all alike in this, that they do not want the tariff fight reopened. So far as customs duties are concerned, they are satisfied to leave things as they shall be left as they are, or they will know the reason.

The great dry goods house which is now selling 30 or 40 per cent more goods than it was selling in 1894, 1895 or 1896 does not want its business, carefully adjusted to present conditions, harassed and upset by a new threat of tariff-smashing, even if the threat is never carried out. The factory which is employing a thousand hands, where, six years ago, it employed five hundred, and is paying them full wages and working them every day, would rather face an earthquake or a cyclone than another visitation of Gorman-Wilsonism. The industrial classes of this country, that are its real rulers, will rise as one man to smite the organs or the politicians of the party that would unseat the Pandora's box of another tariff war. If the Democracy, misled by muckrakers, attempts this, it will be buried more deeply than it was when it attempted to smash the gold standard and set up its silver idola.

Those party newspapers that are crying out against the tariff do not know what they are doing. They are virtually trying to cut off the business of every merchant who advertises in their columns and to rob their readers of the earnings of their daily toil. There can no longer be any conjecture.

THE HOME GOLD CURE.
An Ingenious Treatment by Which Drunkards are Being Cured Daily in Spite of Themselves.

No Noxious Doses. No Weakening of the Nerves. A Pleasant and Positive Cure for the Liquor Habit. It is now generally understood that Drunkenness is a disease and not weakness. A body filled with poison and nerves completely shattered by paralytic or constant use of intoxicating liquors, requires an antidote capable of neutralizing and eradicating this poison, and destroying the craving for intoxicants. Sufferers may now cure themselves at home without publicity or loss of time from business by this wonderful "Home Gold Cure" which has been perfected after many years of close study and treatment of inebriates. The faithful use according to directions of this wonderful discovery is positively guaranteed to cure the most obstinate case, no matter how hard a drinker. Our records show the marvelous transformation of thousands of drunkards into sober, industrious and up-right men.

Wives cure your husbands! Children cure your fathers! This remedy is in no sense a nostrum but is a specific for this disease only, and is so skillfully devised and prepared that it is thoroughly soluble and pleasant to the taste, so that it can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it. Thousands of drunkards have cured themselves with this priceless remedy, and as many more have been cured and made temperate men by having the "Cure" administered by loving friends and relatives without their knowledge in coffee or tea, and believe to-day that discontinued drinking of their own free will. Do not wait. Do not be deceived by cheap and leading "improvement." Drive out the disease at once and for all time. The "Home Gold Cure" is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, thus placing within reach of everybody a treatment more effective than others cost $26 to $50. Full directions accompany each package. Special advice by skilled physicians when requested without extra charge. Sent prepaid to any part of the world on receipt of one dollar. Address Dept. 1, Edwin B. Giles & Company, 2339 and 2343 Market street, Philadelphia. All correspondents strictly confidential.

A WISE RECOMMENDATION

How to Reduce to a Minimum the Annoyances of the Personal Baggage Law.

Appraiser Wakeman, of New York, who has done such good work in checking undervaluation frauds in that city, had made a suggestion in connection with the examination of personal baggage at the New York Custom House which the Treasury Department would do well to adopt in some form. The greatest trouble concerning the examination of baggage at the custom houses is the ignorance of our customs laws on the part of tourists. They are not aware when they go abroad of the restrictions placed upon their purchases abroad to bring them in free of duty, and they never become, as a rule, acquainted with the requirements of the law until their baggage is subjected to inspection. Then they learn for the first time in many cases that they have purchased a good many things that are dutiable, and there is accordingly great indignation.

Appraiser Wakeman suggested to Secretary Gage that a circular describing fully the provisions of the personal baggage law be issued for the information of persons going abroad, and that this circular be accompanied by a blank declaration such as the passenger will be asked to sign upon his return to this country, and that steps be taken to have these circulars distributed to passengers on steamships both going to Europe and coming from there. This would enable persons going abroad to know exactly what the law is, and what will be required of them on their return, and would save a great deal of trouble and irritation now created as a result of ignorance of the law.

Many passengers scatter all through their baggage or hide in the bottom of their trunks the things they purchased abroad, whereas, if they would place such articles together in the top of their trunks the customs officials could examine them without going through every part of a trunk. Very few passengers facilitate the work of the customs officials. On the contrary, the great majority retard that necessary work and take particular pains, in many cases, to do so. It is very probable that if the passengers were furnished with the information, as suggested by Appraiser Wakeman, there would be less friction at the custom houses in connection with this matter and a disappearance of many of the complaints now made on the part of passengers ignorant of the law and of the duties custom house officials are required to perform.—Philadelphia Press.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Pletcher
ONE GERMAN INDUSTRY.

Languishing Because of the Protected American Market.

One of the consular reports recently issued by the State Department contains a statement concerning the decline in the woolen industry of Germany. Until 1900, it is said, prosperous conditions prevailed in this industry, but early in the year there was a falling off in the value of wool and woolen yarns of from 50 to 60 per cent. Last year two-thirds of the looms were idle, and there is at present no prospect of improvement. Of the many manufacturers formerly engaged in the dress goods trade with the United States, only seven or eight are left, it is said, and these ship less each season.

It is important to note the depression in this German industry is attributed largely to the loss of the valuable United States market, and several of the manufacturers have established branch factories in this country in the hope of regaining some of their trade. They are said to be meeting with success, their goods, which are now manufactured in the United States, largely by American workmen finding a ready sale.

Of course, the philanthropic Free-Traders who desire that our tariff wall shall be broken down will regret that the German woolen industry should have suffered because our markets were preserved for home products by the tariff. Under the theory it would be right to take the tariff from woolens, in order that the German workmen engaged in that industry might not be thrown into idleness, and when the fight against Protection is precipitated in Congress next winter that will probably be the burden of their cry.

It is to be regretted that German industries suffer because of our tariff laws, but who will say that Americans should be sorry to see our own industries built up at the expense of those of foreign countries? Let the Germans apply the Free-Trade remedy. If it does not pay to spin woolen yarns and manufacture woollen cloth in that country the industry should be abandoned.—Cleveland Leader.

Many thousands have been restored to health and happiness by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is afflicted with any throat or lung trouble, give it a trial for it is certain to prove beneficial. Coughs that have resisted all other treatment for years, have yielded to this remedy and perfect health has been restored. Cases that seemed hopeless, that climate of famous health resorts failed to benefit, have been permanently cured by its use. Bear in mind that every bottle is warranted and if it does not prove beneficial the money will be refunded to you. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

CASTORIA.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Pletcher
Mr. Bryan's little joke about Senator Hanna is one of the pleasantest things that has come from the Nebraska orator lately.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

DR. HARTMAN'S ADVICE

Is Sought by Female Sufferers From Ocean to Ocean.

Mrs. F. W. Goulder, 1306 Fourth avenue, Rock Island, Illinois, writes: "I was afflicted for five or six years with catarrhal difficulties and was growing weaker all the time. I began taking your Peruna with a marked improvement from the first. Independent of curing that, the Peruna has greatly improved my general health."

"Every bottle of Peruna is worth its weight in gold; especially to me, for I owe my present good health to it." All over the country there are women who have been invalids for many years, suffering with female derangements.

What a boon to such women is Dr. Hartman's free advice! So famous has his skill made him that hardly a hamlet or town in the country but knows his name. He cures tens of thousands, and he offers to do so to every woman who will write to him her symptoms and a history of her trouble, free advice and treatment.

The medicines he prescribes can be obtained at any drug store, and the cost is within the reach of any woman. He describes minutely and carefully just what she shall do and get to make a healthy, robust woman of herself.

Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, for a free copy of "Health and Beauty."

THE NEW YORK WORLD
Thrice-a-Week Edition—All most a Daily at the Price of a Weekly.

The Presidential campaign is over, but the world goes on just the same and it is full of news. To learn this news, just as it is—promptly and impartially—all that you have to do is to look in the columns of The Thrice-a-Week Edition of the New York World which comes to the subscriber five times a year.

The Thrice-a-Week World dispenses as a publisher of first news has given circulation wherever the English language is spoken—and you want it.

The Thrice-a-Week World's circulation is a publisher of first news has given circulation wherever the English language is spoken—and you want it.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.
Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities from the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, rheumatism, neuralgia, etc., are all due to impure blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or untimely heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Nervous, Weak Men.

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through EARLY IMPOTENCE, EXHAUSTION, AND BLOOD DISEASES. If you have any of the following symptoms consult us before it is too late. You may have nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, spots before the eyes with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, headache, dizziness and loss of memory, pimples on the face, emaciated, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, listless, nervous, lack of energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, weak man, blood-stained organs, premature decay, bone pains, hair loss, etc., etc., etc.

Our New Method Treatment will cure you.

MEN'S LIFE BLOOD
Nothing can be more demoralizing to young and middle-aged men than emaciation at night or secret drains through the urine. They unite a man for business, married life or social happiness. To master weakness caused by evil habits, in youth, natural weakness, or sexual excesses, our New Method Treatment will positively cure you. QUICK GUARANTEED. NO FAKE. NO CURE, NO PAY.

No Names Used Without Written Consent.
W. A. Muir, of Lima, O., says:—"I was one of the countless victims of early vice at 15 years of age. The drains on my system were weakening my brain as well as my sexual and nervous system. For ten years I tried scores of doctors, electric belts and potent medicines. Some helped me, but I was giving up in despair. In fact, contemplating suicide when a friend advised me as a last resort to give the New Method Treatment of Dr. K. & K. A. trial. Without consulting I consented and in three months I was a cured man. I was cured seven years ago—am married and happy. I heartily recommend Dr. K. & K. to my fellow men."

Before Treatment
We treat and cure Varicose Veins, Emissions, Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Stricture, Syphilis, Unnatural Discharges, Self Abuse, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and all diseases of Men and Women.

After Treatment
All names used without written consent. Private. No medicine sent to O. D. No names on boxes or envelopes. Everything confidential. Question list and cost of treatment, FREE.

Dr. Kennedy & Kergan,
528 WALNUT STREET,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

DO YOU WANT MACHINERY?
For Threshing Machinery, Saw Mills, Hay Presses, Wind Mills Well Pumps.

GUARANTEED

THE BEST

Hay Bale Ties, Coil-wire, Grate Bars, Pipe Fittings, Engine and Boiler Trimmings etc.

Call on McHenry M'f'g & Mach. Co.,
McHenry, Ky.

For information, address
A. W. HENSON, P. O. Box 218, 4th Ave., Louisville.
Wm. H. TAYLOR, Assistant G. P. A., Louisville.

M. C. H. TAYLOR, Manager.
W. A. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent. See Kingston

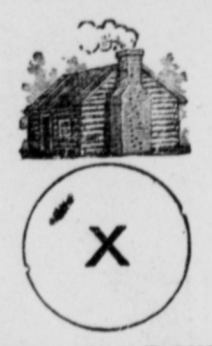

Hon. Alfred Taylor, Tennessee's Great Humorist and Lecturer, Will Address the Ohio County Teachers'

Good Morning! I am going to the Taylor Lecture next Thursday Evening. Oh! certainly, I can't afford to miss the Greatest Event of the season--Everybody is going and of course, I'll be in the crowd.

Hartford Republican.

FRIDAY, JULY 19.

LOAN ROGERS, Editor.
TELEPHONE 22.
Bought 21-1/2c.
Published by the Hartford Pub. Co., Incorporated.
Entered at Hartford postoffice as second-class mail matter.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For Representative, ALVIN S. BENNETT.
For County Judge, FORN ROGERS.
For County Clerk, H. B. RAGLAND.
For County Attorney, M. A. BEAVER.
For Sheriff, CAL P. BEOWN.
For School Superintendent, JAMES DEWEENE.
For Judge, THOMAS H. BLACK.
For Assessor, FRANK LOWE.
For Surveyor, JOHN H. WOOD.
For Coroner, BEN L. DAVIS.

MAGISTRATE.
W. P. BENDER, JR.--Canton District.
GEO. W. MARTIN--Canton District.
ED. MANNING--Barnes District.
CONSTABLE.
WM. OLANDELL--Canton District.
J. B. HILL--Canton District.
LOAN ALLEN--Barnes District.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR MAGISTRATE FIRST DISTRICT.
We are authorized to announce GEORGE BAKER.
As a candidate for magistrate in the Hartford Municipal District, subject to the action of the Republican party.
THIRD DISTRICT.
We are authorized to announce JOHN M. GRAMHAM.
As a candidate for magistrate in the Hartford Municipal District, subject to the action of the Republican party.
FOURTH DISTRICT.
We are authorized to announce ELAZAR MITCHELL.
As a candidate for magistrate in the Hartford Municipal District, subject to the action of the Republican party.
SIXTH DISTRICT.
We are authorized to announce S. C. MILLER.
As a candidate for magistrate in the Hartford Municipal District, subject to the action of the Republican party.
SEVENTH DISTRICT.
We are authorized to announce L. BERRY LONEY.
As a candidate for magistrate in the Hartford Municipal District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

NO POLITICS IN IT.

The declaration of principles adopted by the Ohio county Democracy on the 4th of March, has been torn apart by those candidates who presume to stand for them. They say to the public: "You cannot expect us to stand by that platform, there is no politics in it." Well, gentlemen, of the hocus pocus band, if you forsake your party and the platform on which you were nominated, would you not be likely to repudiate any other proposition you have made or may make? Here is your hopes in bad repair--the pillars have decayed, the doors have deserted their hinges, and the whole thing is in sore need of repair, and not one to plant a guy or stake a prop. The thing has been attacked from every side, it has repeatedly called for help, for relief, for mercy and you sullenly stand off and say: "I am responsible for you. There is no politics in it." Here is the outline of your grave, dug by your own hands: "We endorse the wise, conservative and adherence to the people's interest that have characterized the present State administration of Governor Beckham and those with him who are charged with the administration of State affairs."

It is not necessary that we recount what this declaration represents. The facts covered in this short sentence are indeed broad and hard of comprehension. It is certainly difficult to conceive of a set of men going before an outraged people, asking them support for office, who brazenly avow that they deserve to be disfranchised because they--the people--elected a man Governor of this Commonwealth who was unable to fill the different functions of government, Executive, Legislative and Judicial, under the Constitution, at the same time. This platform speaks for the Mess Hall convention, the assertions of Watterston, Woodson, Beckham and Goebel, at McHenry; the demand for and filing the notices of contest; the outrages of the legislature in declaring the defeated elected and elected defeated; the chasing of Kentucky's rightful Governor from his hard earned position as Governor, charging him with a assassination and calling for a rope to hang him, and damnation to be visited upon the entire Republican party; the incarceration and cruel mock trial of the persecuted Powers; the appropriation of $100,000 corruption money to "hang and damn;" the malitia appropriation of $100,000 to be used in raising a standing army to guard those in office, who had overthrown the ballot box and the Constitution and declared themselves outright for anarchy and revolution; the pardoning of gambler Alvey because the Governor demanded competition in this illegal business.

Briefly stated, these are a few of the things that J. P. Miller, T. J. Smith, W. H. Barnes, T. E. Butler, M. J. Cox, &c., stand for, the principles they would have injected into State politics, the very things they aided and abetted, by their votes and influence. These men clamored for this doctrine in State matters, and on their conduct and triumph they based their platform on the 4th of March and now ask the people to turn the "rascals out" and let these angelic spirits, these political purists set up the same sort of government here in Ohio county. For breakfast they have "no politics in it," for dinner the same is rebashed, and for supper its the same old thing warmed over: "No politics in it, boys." No politics in it. Not only do these candidates refuse to talk of their conduct in State matters, but they have, we understand, put the seal of "say nothing" on the lips of their heroic guardian, "Gen. A. G. Benton," and will not allow him to mention politics. As these transient political meteoric stars traverse the political ether, they sing of their merits as gentlemen, "What I have done while Judge, what I would do if you elect me Clerk," and so on, and for the chorus they all join in one halloo, "No politics in it boys," concluding their peculiarity with the doxology: "I am a Populist, I am a Democrat; I voted against the two week's pay bill for the miners, I am responsible for the paintings in the Beckham procession," while the Judge and the would-be Clerk mused each other with "what I done," the other boys "tuck" up "too-de-raddel-fod-ink-ee-da," and the curtain fell, while all shouted, "No politics in it, boys."

NO POLITICS IN IT, BOYS.

There are good reasons for the wide spread dissatisfaction among the gentlemen of the Democratic party. Reasonable men desire principles adhered to by everyone; they like consistency even in their enemy and most assuredly they want their own household to have some respect, at least, for truth and virtue. Loyal and true Democrats believe in Democratic principles, they believe that if certain principles were thoroughly tested, put into practice, it would be to the advancement of the national government. This multitude of citizens have a right to their opinion, and it should be respected. Every man is duly entitled to his conviction, this we grant to all, while there is a class that has no settled convictions, no fixed principles, but allow the wind to blow them hither and thither.

By virtue of a clique, the Democratic party nominated a man for County Judge on the 4th of March last, who has belonged to every party in his time, and who declared on the 16th of last July, in conversation in Court Hall, that he was a Democrat, and on the 19th of the same month wrote a friend after this style and manner:

"I am for every thing the Populist have advocated. I don't propose to take one backward step for any nomination or office. I am a Populist."

On the 4th of March last, when he had decided that he would like to be the Democratic nominee for County Judge over a true and loyal, sure-enough Democrat, in a Democratic convention and "because some Democrats said they would vote against me if I didn't," pringed and caused to be circulated a card containing this sentence:

"Since the adoption of the Chicago Platform by the Democratic National Convention in 1896 and the re-affirmation of this platform by the Democratic party in Kentucky, I have been and am now a Democrat."

We submit this at present with "Lincoln's saying:" "A man that likes this sort of thing, is the sort of thing that he likes."

UPON WHAT GROUNDS.

Constable, Sheriff, two terms; Clerk, two terms; Representative, Door-keeper, Trustee Jury Fund--Total amount of revenue from public crib, $14,000. This has been the lot of our present Democratic candidate for County Clerk. Upon what ground do you ask a third term, Mr. Smith? Justice would say in this case: "Well, Tommy, you've been highly favored and grown financially fat at the public crib, you may step aside now and I will let Mose Ragland have this term, then I'll take up another young man and encourage the young men of the county. Sixty years in office ought to be enough for you." Oh, but I haven't been in office all my life. Well, what else have you done? Conscience speaks, voted against the "Two Week's Pay Bill" for the laboring men.

We might suggest that the painting, purporting to represent Gov. Taylor shooting Senator Goebel, what was carried in the Beckham procession, be half credited to him, since he had it made and the Judge's son carried it and shook it in the bull's face. Well aren't there some virtues that might be claimed for the Democratic candidate for Clerk? We know of none.

SUPPOSED INTERVIEW.

Hello! Daniel, old boy; come out sir, and reveal your knowledge acquired since last we met on the plains of public attention. Now, please confine yourself to facts and don't go off in one of your flights of oratory. Our readers want nothing but the truth from you and if you go beyond these bounds, you will be immediately thrown overboard. The public mind is in no condition to be tampered with just now and you should speak truthfully and frankly and to the point. Speak, Daniel!

"Sir, since called upon to pass judgment on what I should have done had I been Governor Taylor's opponent in the contest for Governor of Kentucky, will say, after a week of studios and careful investigation, my deep sense of honor and high regard for self-respect and the regard for the supremacy of the people's will, which I have ever held dear, compel me to disclaim all intentions of casting my vote in a Kentucky Legislature to unseat the rightfully and duly elected and legally qualified Governor."

"Upon my honor, I will sever my right arm from my body, ere I should allow my political prejudice and envy, drive me into a contest for what the people gave another."

"Sir, I would, under no circumstances, father a law or countenance it for a moment, that 'removes every element of chance from an election.' 'I would no more think of accepting a stolen office than I would going to the moon via San Francisco and the Philippine Islands.'

"Under no circumstances could I be induced to endorse the contest and the overthrow of civil liberty and the Constitution. Read my Bunker Hill address."

"It would have caused blood shed to have accused me of 'praying to the gods to destroy my successful rivals and damn the opposing party,' for I seldom prayed and my prayers were always directed for and in behalf of mine enemies."

"Don't, please don't accuse me of associating with, or having any thing to do with 'A. G. Benton' articles, I was always very frank with my enemy and never went behind his back to stab him. Read my reply to Robert Young Hayne in the Senate of the United States."

"No, I should not have pardoned a convicted gambler, I never thought they were beneficial to the country and you know I am a powerful fellow for my country. Read my John Adam's speech."

"I have tried, earnestly, in this brief space, to make myself understood, and I shall flatter myself with the consolation that all is now well. However, remember that it needed, I am ready to perform my own appropriate part, whenever and wherever the occasion may call on me, and to take my chance among those upon whom blows may fall first and fall thickest. I shall exert every faculty I possess in aiding to prevent the Constitution from being overthrown, destroyed, or impaired; and even should I see it fall, I will still, with a voice feeble, perhaps, but earnest as ever issued from human lips, and with fidelity and zeal which nothing shall extinguish, call on the PEOPLE to come to its rescue."

We understand that Mr. Smith, the soldier-laboring-man's friend-Democratic nominee for County Clerk, is advising his friends to stand to him and elect him this time, that he will be, too old, for re-election, that this will be his last race, &c. This is certainly encouragement to gentlemen and they ought to vote for him to get rid of such an office-seeker, but then, he'll make no more races after Moses gets through with him. But in all seriousness, if Mr. Smith desires to see the Democratic party prosper, why didn't he allow some young man nominated, who had not spent a life time at the public crib. There is Billy Hardwick, whom everybody loves and a deserving young man, why didn't Mr. Smith step aside and give him an opportunity? There is Alvis Tichenor, a Democratic worker, active, energetic and deserving, why didn't he get Mr. Smith's nomination? And there are a host of other young men in the county far more deserving than Thomas Jefferson Smith, who has been made independently rich by the people of Ohio county. Two terms ought to satisfy any man, and the people are going to so declare on the 5th of November. Ohio county politics will rid itself of this perpetual office-holder by giving him a much deserved defeat.

We are of the opinion that legislative records ought not be preserved, for a legislator may become a candidate for County Clerk, and when his vote, on the "Two Week's Pay Bill," is exposed, he might get his fighting clothes on and want to give some one a "damned good beating." We enter a motion to abolish legislative records and the memories of men, so when a candidate comes before the people, he won't have nothin' to 'count for."

REPUBLICANS, when the Democratic candidate for Clerk tells you he voted for this or that Republican, ask him why he didn't vote for his brother, Dave, when he was a candidate for Sheriff in '82? When he tells you he voted for Judge Morton, go to the Clerk's office and examine the poll book of '90, and you will find the 12th vote recorded* against Judge Morton.

HAVE you seen our soldier candidate for County Clerk? They say he's a sure enough hero, but he can't find his record. Uncle Sam is a very cruel and partial master. He records the battles that Ragland was engaged in, but doesn't even record Smith as being his employee. Isn't that awful? But then Uncle Sam left off the record of stragglers and camp-followers.

"GENERAL A. G. Benton" advised the public sometime since that he held the fuse of a volcano in his hand. We insisted that he turn the thing loose, but he refused. A friend has suggested it may have been that "damned good liekin'." If so, then, who is going to administer it?

LEGISLATIVE records and political eclipses are things that ought not be exploded in a campaign. What a man does in trying to overthrow civil liberty and the flag in a State campaign, ought not be remembered by nobody and said nothing 'bout in a county campaign.

THAT "damned good floggin'," you know, that was going to be fetched us, "right soon," has been the source of a great disappointment. May be it has been postponed on account of the intense hot weather; if it's so, we don't care if it never gets cool.

THE Bryan Democrats of Ohio have called a convention to meet the 31st to put out a Bryan ticket for State offices. Evidently Bryan has some friends in the world that will stand to him for the third term.

MR. GODSEY, beg pardon, but didn't understand what you said you did to take the taste out of your mouth when you voted for Bryan in '96? Will you explain?

AFTER the idea of November passes Mr. Bennett, who aspires to be Assessor, can truthfully say: "I have been Lowed."

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. We the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all his business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Trux, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75c, per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

White's Cream Vermifuge not only effectually expels worms, but is unequalled as a tonic, and is a certain and permanent cure for Chills and Fever in children. Price 25 cts. J. H. Williams.

Ready for the Issue.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of more than one Free Trade journal to push Tariff revision forward as an issue in the next Presidential campaign. Nothing could be more satisfactory to Protectionists than to see them succeed. An open fight on that issue could have but one result. I would be a welcome relief to supporters of the American system to get a chance to fight in the open.

The only danger which there has been for the Protective system during the last two campaigns has been due to the fact that the Free-Traders made every effort to belionel the real questions at issue and trust the Tariff discussion as far into the background as possible. If there could be a campaign in which the only issue, and that a clearly defined issue, was one between Protection and Free-Trade, the Protectionists could sit back and take a long breath. The campaign would run itself, and our historic policy of giving Protection to American industries would be established beyond all possibility of being shaken--Iowa City Republican.

Imperfect digestion and assimilation produce disordered conditions of the system, which grow and are confirmed by neglect. Herbine gives tone to the stomach, and causes good digestion. Price 50 cents. J. H. Williams.

Jane--Oh! John, I wish you would--John--What on earth! Jane--Why, take me to the lecture Thursday evening.

Cuts and bruises are healed by Chamberlain's Pain Balm in about one third the time any other treatment would require because of its antiseptic qualities which cause the party to heal without maturation. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

To Cure Constipation Forever. Take Chamberlain's Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. H. C. C. Co. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

FALLING HAIR

Does this illustrate your experience? And are you worried for fear you are soon to be bald? Then cease worrying, for help is at hand. You need something that will put new life into the hair bulbs. You need a hair food, such as--

It brings health to the hair, and the falling ceases. It always restores color to gray hair. You need not look at thirty, for your gray hair may have again all the dark, rich color of youth.

It's 50c a bottle. All druggists. "I am a barber by trade and have had a great deal to do with your Hair Vigor. I have found that it will do everything that you claim for it. It has given me the most complete satisfaction in my business." HENRY J. GIBSON, March 22, 1898. KANSAS CITY, MO. Write the Doctor. If you do not obtain all the benefits you expect, from the use of the Vigor, write the Doctor at once. Address, Dr. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

MR. BECKHAM AND THE COURTS

It is a terrible thing in the eyes of Gov. Beckham for a Goebellite to be indicted by a Republican grand jury and tried and convicted before a Republican Judge, but judging by his association and actions it is all right for a Republican, who has been robbed of an office to which he was honestly and fairly elected, to not only be indicted, but tried, by a jury composed entirely of Democrats, selected for that purpose, and tried before a court whose rulings were so prejudicial to the defendant as to be denounced as such by the unanimous voice of the highest court in the land, nearly half of whom possess the same political bias the trial judge does.--London Mountain Echo.

A BECKHAM PARDON.

Mr. Beckham has pardoned five Democrats of Pike county for shooting Republicans. The petition was signed almost, if not altogether, by Democrats. Thus a lot of Democrats clear Democrats of crime with as much unanimity of feeling as a Democratic court and a Democratic jury convicted Republicans of murder without testimony, and it's so easily done.--Somerset Republican.

HOWARD AND POWERS.

We are inclined to think that the bureau for creating public sentiment against Powers and Howard has been put to work, and that the degradation of Yontey by giving him the hardest place in the prison is a part of the same scheme. The public may look for all kinds of reports during the next few months. Plots to escape, conspiracies, etc., will be reported from time to time, in order to get a public sentiment that will justify other convictions.--Winchester Gateway Sentinel.

THERE MUST BE SOME FIRE.

Justus Goebel has again been indicted by the Kenton county grand jury for extorting money by threats from persons holding minor positions in the municipal government of Covington. It is charged that he made A. J. Lansdown pay him $10 a month for twenty three months for a clerkship in the water works. We hope there is some mistake, and shall continue to believe Mr. Goebel innocent till the reverse is proven, but fear that where there is so much smoke there may be some fire.--Harrdsburg Democrat.

KENTON COUNTY AND THE SENATORSHIP.

Ever since the Democratic primary in Kenton county the Goebellites have been trying to find out "where they are at." Of one thing Jo Pugh is positively assured, and which no doubt gives him a great deal of satisfaction, and that is, he gets good and even with Allie Young, Judge Cantrill and Gov. Beckham for their interference with him as district commissioner when he desired to reorganize the committees of Kenton and Campbell counties--the legislative committee nominated being anti-Cantrill, anti-Beckham and anti-Young, Judge Cantrill will be unable to get a single vote from Kenton, notwithstanding he was solemnly assured by Arthur Goebel that he should have them all if Committeeman Hedger, of Scott, would not sustain Pugh at the Frankfort meeting.--Maysville Public Ledger.

THE GOEBEL INDICTMENT.

Mr. Goebel, judgment should be suspended against all accused, and every man should have a fair and impartial trial, but before you and your ilk demand fairness you should practice a little of it yourself in the trial of Powers, Howard and others.--Green River Republican.

As to whether or not Mr. Goebel is guilty as charged, we know nothing, but it seems that there must be something in the matter. He has, ever since the death of his brother, been meddling a great deal with Kentucky affairs. There are those who have been trying to make a kind of a second William Goebel of him, hoping that the mantle of his dead brother would fall upon his shoulders.--Glenn's Graph.

BECKHAM AND HIS PARDONS.

Beckham's multitudes of pardons would come in better grace if he hadn't protested so strongly and loudly and frequently from the stump that he would "never pardon any man who had been 'convicted' by a jury of twelve men!" or did he refer to only Republicans who had been "convicted" by Cantrill and twelve other partisan Democrats?--Maysville Public Ledger.

Is your liver tired? Does it fail to do its duty? If so, don't neglect its call for help. A few doses of Herbine may save you a spell of sickness. Herbine is the only perfect liver medicine. It cures Chills and Fever. Price 50 cts. J. H. Williams. m

How are Your Kidneys?

Dr. Hodge's Nerve and Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills. Sufferers. Ask Dr. Hodge's Nerve and Kidney Pills. Remember the lecture Thursday evening.

HORSE BRANCH, KY.

July 17.--We had some rain last night, prospects good for more this morning. It would surely be a welcome guest to all.

We are glad to report Mr. Wes P. Miller some better, after a severe attack of flux. His wife died with the same disease on July the 15th, was interred on the 16th at Old Salem Church.

We are expecting Dr. Lawless, of Patesville, Ky., to locate at our place. He has been practicing medicine for twelve or fifteen years. He is forty-five years of age.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS

Chichester's English Pennyroyal Pills. Beware of cheap imitations. Refuse all substitutes. Safe. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in Red and Gold wrapper. Beware of cheap imitations. Take no other. It cures dangerous obstructions and irregularities. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all cases of female complaint. It is sold in packages of 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90, 100 Pills. Price 10c per box. Sold by all Druggists. CHICHESTER CHEMICAL CO. 2100 Madison Square. PHILA., PA. Send this paper.

If You've Money to Burn, This is not for You.

BUT if you want to spent your money in the most profitable way possible, come to our store now. No chance of "burning" your cash here, in the exceptional values we have to offer. We want to impress upon the public the absolute truthfulness of the assertion that we are going to let prices count for very little in closing out our large stock of Summer Goods. It is not so much of profit, but the CASH that we are after. We want to make a clean sweep, and if we get a little above or a little below cost and carriage for our goods now, we are satisfied.

Our Big July Clearance Sale is Now on!

ON account of our large stock, we yet have a full supply in many lines of goods. These must go, right away, for the CASH, whether there is a profit attached or not. We are showing a big line of new Laces, Embroideries, All-over Insertions and Lace. Big line of Ribbons. Ladies' Muslin and Knitted Underwear, Lawns, Organ-dies, Piques, Foulards, Dimities, Shambries, White Dress Goods and other Dress Fabrics--in stacks and bolts. In Summer Clothing for Men and Boys, and Ladies' and Gents' Furnishing Goods, we have large, desirable lines.

Haven't Time and Don't Care to Quote You Prices.

In fact, we'll let our customers do most of the price-quoting. We are quite willing to lose a few cents on a purchase, if our customers are pleased and we are enabled to turn our goods into Cash. We need this Cash to make our Fall purchases, hence this sacrifice. We want our customers to take advantage of this Clearance Sale, with the full assurance that there is a Bargain in every purchase. Come NOW! Do not delay, for the Bargains will get fewer as they are disposed of.

R. T. COLLINS, - Hartford.

CARBUNCLES AND BOILS SYMPTOMS OF BAD BLOOD

There is a popular belief that every boil is worth many times its weight in gold, and the sufferer patiently, even cheerfully, endures the pain under the mistaken idea that these little tormentors are health promoters; that they thin the blood when too thick, and cleanse and cool it when too hot or too rich. On the contrary, boils and carbuncles are evidence of blood poverty, or a fearfully depraved condition of that fluid. There may be no external evidence of bad blood until the warm days of spring set in motion the sluggish circulation and the pent-up impurities, unable to escape through the natural outlets, gather near the surface of the skin, and a Carbuncle or a Boil is the result. When the blood is burdened with an undue amount of this impure matter, the Boils come in greater number, eat deeper into the surrounding flesh, and, being nearly always located on a bed of nerves, cause the most intense suffering. Robust and apparently healthy people are subject to Boils, and there is always some hidden agency at work within the blood and system that will eventually undermine the health, but those whose constitutions are broken down by previous sickness or other causes, are most often the unhappy victims of Boils and Carbuncles. Exposure to the deadly malaria destroys the red corpuscles and reduces the blood to such a weak and watery condition that it succumbs to the boil-producing poisons, and the pale and sallow sufferer is continually nursing one or more of these feverish and painful eruptions. A harmless Boil is sometimes the precursor of dreaded Cancer, and too often the best evidence of a deranged condition of the kidneys or chronic liver trouble, brought on by lack of nutritious blood; or it may develop into a running abscess or ugly eating sore, causing years of suffering, and often terminating fatally. To seek relief from the inflammation and pain produced by these terrifying eruptions through the application of local remedies is natural and right, but this method of treatment does not prevent others coming, or bring the slightest relief to the disease-burdened, deeply poisoned blood. Only a thorough regeneration and building up of the depreciated blood can bring about a lasting cure of Carbuncles and Boils and prevent their reappearance. S. S. S. restores to the old blood all its lost properties, re-invigorating and giving it the healthy red color that only pure, fresh blood can have, and through this new blood strength and vigor comes to the bodily organs; the skin resumes its functions, and impurities of whatever character are taken up and filtered out of the system in nature's way.

S. S. S. is made exclusively of roots and herbs selected for their wonderful purifying and tonic properties. It cures blood poison diseases of all kinds, whether acute or chronic. No matter how long the poison may have been in the blood, S. S. S. removes every vestige of it, thus insuring a faultless circulation and healthy body. Those subject to boils or any skin eruption, old sores or ulcers, are asked to write our physicians all about their disease, and any information or advice wanted will be cheerfully and promptly given without any cost to the patient whatever. A valuable book on Blood and Skin Diseases sent free.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

SSS

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of

Wm. H. Wills

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomach and Bowels of Infants and Children.

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and Loss of Sleep.

Fac-Simile Signature of Wm. H. Wills NEW YORK.

At 6 months old 35 DROPS - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPING.

FIELD & SON,

SOLE PROPRIETORS

TRANSFER LINE.

BETWEEN HARTFORD AND BEAVER DAM, HARTFORD, KY.

A FAST AND EASY RIDE IN THE MOST COMFORTABLE VEHICLES. YOUR PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

A BOON TO MANKIND!

DR. TABLER'S BUCKEYE PILE CURE

FOR PILES, INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL, WITHOUT PAIN.

CURES WHERE ALL OTHERS HAVE FAILED.

TUBES, BY MAIL, 75 CENTS; BOTTLES, 50 CENTS.

JAMES F. BALLARD, Sole Proprietor, 310 North Main Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

WORMS! WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE!

For 20 Years Has Led All Worm Remedies.

Prepared by JAMES F. BALLARD, St. Louis.

A BUSINESS EDUCATION

The Bryant & Stratton Business College, Louisville, Kentucky.

THE AMERICAN INVESTMENT COMPANY,

(Incorporated.)

CAPITAL STOCK $25,000.00
RESERVE FUND 125,000.00
AMOUNT PAID UPON HOLDERS 200,000.00

Address all correspondence to HOME OFFICE, LEXINGTON, KY.

GOOD TERMS TO FIRST CLASS AGENTS.

THE SUNNY SOUTH

Fifty Cents a Year Less Than a Penny a Number

THE SOUTH'S LITERARY WEEKLY

Published at Atlanta, Ga.

THE SUNNY SOUTH

After a career of more or less activity in the Southern field for over a quarter of a century, The Sunny South has again become a weekly, better and more readable than at any time in its history. It contains serial fiction from the best known authors of the world. It is devoted to Southern readers and Southern writers and is their own story paper. Short stories, sketches, incidents of war and of peace, anecdotes at home and abroad, poems, ideas, fashions, hints for house keepers, everything of interest to old and young will appear in its excellent weekly make up.

The two great serials, "THE STRAITS OF BLENHEIM" by ANTHONY HARRIS (now in progress with full synopsis to cover former installments), and "THE STRAITS OF BLENHEIM" by MAURICE THOMPSON, to begin April 27th, will be read with absorbing interest throughout the whole South. This is your opportunity, and only 50 cents for a full year of it. Think of it! 50 cents.

Subscription price is only fifty cents a year. No agent's commission. The paper is its own best offer and argument to the subscriber. One sample copy free to you and to your six neighbors whose names and addresses you send on a postal card, provided you send at once. A club of five at 50 cents each, accompanied by the full amount $2.50 net to us, entitles the sender to The Sunny South a whole year free.

The Sunny South is your old friend in a new form, always improving, every issue to excel the last one. The Sunny South literary paper is here at last. Order it today.

The Sunny South in combination with the greatest of all Southern Weekly Newspapers—The Atlanta Weekly Constitution—both for only $1.25 a year. Remit that amount to The Sunny South, and get these two great papers—One Literary; the other News.

Address all letters and remittances to THE SUNNY SOUTH, ATLANTA, GA.

Hartford Republican.

FRIDAY, JULY 19.

CALLS FOR CONVENTIONS

To Nominate Candidates for Magistrates and Constables in the Various Districts of the County.

HARTFORD MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT.

At a meeting of the Republican Committee of the Hartford Magisterial District, held at Beaver Dam, Ohio county, Kentucky, on June 8, 1901, a majority of said committee being present, the committee was called to order by the chairman and the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, 1st. That a mass convention be held in the Hartford Magisterial District, at Beaver Dam, Ohio county, Ky., on Saturday July 20, 1901, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates to be voted for at the November election 1901, for the office of Justice of the Peace and Constable of said district.

2nd. That the candidates receiving a majority of the votes cast in said convention shall be declared the Republican nominees and have their names placed on the official ballot for the respective offices.

WM. BROWN, Ch'm'n.

R. C. JARNGAN, Sec'y.

ROCKPORT MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT.

At a meeting of the Republican Committee of the Rockport Magisterial District held at the residence of W. H. Wilcox, Ohio county, Ky., on June 10, 1901. A majority of said committee being present, the committee was called to order by the chairman, and the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, 1st. That a mass convention be held in the Rockport Magisterial District at Rockport, Ohio county, Ky., on Saturday July 20, 1901, at 2 p. m. in the Hotel Hall for the purpose of nominating candidates to be voted for at the November election 1901, for the offices of Justice of the Peace and Constable of said district.

2nd. That the candidates receiving a majority of the votes cast in said convention shall be declared the Republican nominees and have their names placed on the official ballot for the respective offices.

WM. HAMILTON, Ch'm'n.

W. H. WILCOX, Sec'y.

G. M. MADDOX, Com.

FORDSVILLE MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT.

At a meeting of the Republican Committee of the Fordsville Magisterial District, held in Fordsville, Ohio county, Ky., Saturday, June 8, 1901, a majority of the committee being present. The committee was called to order by the chairman and entered into business. The following resolutions were adopted by the committee:

Resolved, 1st. That a mass convention be held at Fordsville, Ohio county, Ky., on Saturday July 20, 1901, at 10 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates to be voted at the next regular election, for the offices of Magistrate and Constable of said district.

2nd. That the men receiving a majority of the votes cast in said convention shall be declared the Republican nominees and have their names entered on the official ballot for the respective offices.

JACOB CHANCELLOR, Ch'm'n.

S. C. MILLER, Sec'y.

SULPHUR SPRINGS MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT.

At a meeting of the Republican Committee of the Sulphur Springs Magisterial District held at Sulphur Springs, Ohio county, Ky., June 12, 1901, it was ordered that a mass convention be held at Narrows, Ky., on the 20th of July, 1901, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Magistrate and Constable to be voted for at the next regular election. All Republicans are requested to attend the convention. The candidates receiving the highest number of votes will be declared the nominees of the Republican party and entitled to have their names entered on the official ballot.

J. B. WALLACE, Ch'm'n.

If young ladies think sores, pimples and red noses look well with a bridal veil and orange blossoms, it's all right. Yet Rocky Mountain Tea would drive them away. 35c. Ask your druggist.

This Will Interest Many.

To quickly introduce the famous blood purifier, B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) into new homes, we will give away 10,000 treatments. B. B. B. will positively cure all blood and skin troubles—ulcers, scrofula, eczema, eating sores, itching humors, swellings.

Lazy Liver

Have been troubled a great deal with a torpid liver, which produces constipation. I found CASCARETS to be just the thing for me. I purchased another supply and was completely cured. I shall only be too glad to recommend Cascarets whenever the opportunity presents itself.

J. J. SMITH

2600 Sunnyside Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good, Do Good. Never Sickens, Weakens or Gripes. 35c. Per Box. BOTTLED BY THE CASCARET CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CURE CONSTIPATION.

Send for a sample copy of this wonderful medicine, which will cure your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "Sulfi" the "Guaranteed Cathartic Cure."

Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. 1, Ed. W. B. Giles & Company, 219 and 233 Market Street, Philadelphia.

STILL DESTROYED.

Was Well Fitted up and had a Capacity of Fifty Gallons Per Day.

Only one Man Was Seen, and he Made a Successful Escape by Fleeing.

Deputy Internal Revenue Agent W. Yates returned Monday from Hardin county, where he successfully captured and destroyed the largest moonshine still that has ever been operated in this district, and possibly within the United States.

Capt. Yates, at his office here, received information from Hardin county late Friday afternoon that a still had been located in that county, and with the officer's usual promptness, by dark he was hurrying toward Big Clifty, the nearest railroad station.

Mr. Yates arrived about 11 o'clock Friday night, and was met by Collector Ben Selverge and Possemen Riley Watkins and Omar Meridith. The officers had horses awaiting them, and without loss of time mounted and began their long ride of twenty miles up Rough river to the place where the still was located, near Vertrees post-office.

Hour after hour went by, and still the revenue men rode through the moonlit forests, up steep bridge paths and through dark ravines. The country in that section being very broken and rugged, their twenty-mile ride at night was anything but sure.

About 3 o'clock Saturday morning the signal to dismount was given by the guide, and all the officers tied their horses to trees at the mouth of a dark ravine. A consultation was held and Agent Yates directed that his men push forward cautiously up the gulch and capture the operators alive, should they be at work. The moon was on a level with the tree tops, and gave but scant light to the officers on their perilous way.

The still was finally sighted, and with stealthy steps, the men crept up to the "lean-to." The place seemed deserted, and the revenue men made a circuit of the still, which was seen at once to be a very large one. After another consultation it was decided by Capt. Yates to lay in ambush and await the coming of the shiners. Some of the men had secreted themselves in positions that would give them good shots at the outlaws should they make any resistance. Omar Meridith was looking about for a secure hiding place, when he saw what he thought was a large rock, about fifty feet from the still. Moving slowly through the underbrush, he reached the supposed rock, but instead found that it was a huge vat turned up on one side. He stepped on a dry twig as he peered around the side of the great box, and in an instant was almost thrown from his feet by the sudden rush of a man who had been sleeping in the tub.

The deputy dashed after the fugitive crying him to stop or he would be shot, but the man only increased his speed, dodging between the tree trunks, and was quickly lost to sight.

Capt. Yates was informed of the outlaws, and he posted his men in the best positions possible to resist a fierce fight with the moonshiners. The still was the largest ever seen in this part of the country, and Mr. Yates felt sure that the owners would make a desperate fight for their property. After waiting for an hour or more and no one coming near the still, the officers began their work of destruction.

The still had a capacity of over fifty gallons of whisky a day. Three casks and sixty feet of copper worm and five fermenting tubs, of 1,000 gallons each, were destroyed together with 3,000 gallons of beer and a great quantity of corn meal and other fixtures used in making whisky.

The operators, whoever they were, had evidently fixed themselves to stay. A good force pump and many other appliances had been rigged up to facilitate the output of illicit whisky.

Internal Revenue Agent Yates stated that the still was the largest unlicensed still he had ever seen or heard of in any county, and regards the capture as a good day's work. The man who had escaped had made himself comfortable in his mash tub and as he left rather hurriedly, he neglected to take his satchel, containing his clothes, and also a box full of provisions, even down to preserves.

The officers rode back to the railroad station without firing a shot, as they thought the shiners would embolden them and make things dance to the tune of Winchester rifle bullets—Louisville Commercial.

If you want some 'just as good' 'I make it myself,' remedy, try an imitation Rocky Mountain Tea. 'Twill make you sick and keep you sick. Ask your druggist.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of

Wm. H. Wills

Owes Much to Protection.

"The horn of the South," remarks a Southern paper, "is pouring out wealth at a rate never known before." The Southern people have acquired acquaintance with the truth, so long preached in this land to dull ears, that an agricultural community cannot become a rich community. That truth was the foundation stone in the Protective theory advanced by Alexander Hamilton, and the whole of the century-long struggle between the Protective and Free Trade doctrines was really made upon the question whether this country should supply Europe with raw materials and depend upon Europe for manufactures, or whether it should manufacture its own raw materials and keep both profits. This is the greatest manufacturing nation in the world to-day, because the instincts and the good sense of the American people taught them that the British theory was good for England, but bad for them. The South was slow in learning the lesson because it thought its monopoly of the cotton crop gave to that region special advantages. The Southern people have awakened to the truth that industrial diversity is one of the secrets of prosperity, and that where the factory and the furnace are near to the cotton field and ore bed, the producer of raw material is better off, the manufacturer is better off, and the whole community is advantaged. One way to get rich is to pocket all the profits in sight, and that is the plan South is now trying to pursue. What the fate of the American Protective system is to be cannot be conjectured; but the past is secured. To persistent adherence to that system the nation owes much the larger part of its industrial supremacy.—Philadelphia Textile Record.

Those who live on farms are liable to many accidental cuts, burns and bruises, which heal rapidly when Ballard's Snow Liniment is promptly applied. Price 25 and 50 cts. J. H. Williams.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away. To quit tobacco easily and forever, be sure and get CIGARETTES, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address: Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

If Southern statesmen improve the chance held out by an element of the Republican party to jump onto the robber tariff they will buck square against the policy and interests of Southern business men.—Little Rock (Ark.) Republican.

To Cure Constipation Forever. Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic, 35c. Box. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure Catarrh by the use of powders, acids, cathartics and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the cathartics have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and speciality of the treatment of Catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures Catarrh by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the affected parts. "Sulfi" is the Guaranteed Cathartic Cure and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"Sulfi" is the only perfect Cure ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve Hay Fever or Cold in the Head.

Catarrh when neglected often leads to Consumption. "Sulfi" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure Catarrh in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful medicine regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "Sulfi" the "Guaranteed Cathartic Cure."

Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. 1, Ed. W. B. Giles & Company, 219 and 233 Market Street, Philadelphia.

STILL DESTROYED.

Was Well Fitted up and had a Capacity of Fifty Gallons Per Day.

Only one Man Was Seen, and he Made a Successful Escape by Fleeing.

Deputy Internal Revenue Agent W. Yates returned Monday from Hardin county, where he successfully captured and destroyed the largest moonshine still that has ever been operated in this district, and possibly within the United States.

Capt. Yates, at his office here, received information from Hardin county late Friday afternoon that a still had been located in that county, and with the officer's usual promptness, by dark he was hurrying toward Big Clifty, the nearest railroad station.

Mr. Yates arrived about 11 o'clock Friday night, and was met by Collector Ben Selverge and Possemen Riley Watkins and Omar Meridith. The officers had horses awaiting them, and without loss of time mounted and began their long ride of twenty miles up Rough river to the place where the still was located, near Vertrees post-office.

Hour after hour went by, and still the revenue men rode through the moonlit forests, up steep bridge paths and through dark ravines. The country in that section being very broken and rugged, their twenty-mile ride at night was anything but sure.

About 3 o'clock Saturday morning the signal to dismount was given by the guide, and all the officers tied their horses to trees at the mouth of a dark ravine. A consultation was held and Agent Yates directed that his men push forward cautiously up the gulch and capture the operators alive, should they be at work. The moon was on a level with the tree tops, and gave but scant light to the officers on their perilous way.

The still was finally sighted, and with stealthy steps, the men crept up to the "lean-to." The place seemed deserted, and the revenue men made a circuit of the still, which was seen at once to be a very large one. After another consultation it was decided by Capt. Yates to lay in ambush and await the coming of the shiners. Some of the men had secreted themselves in positions that would give them good shots at the outlaws should they make any resistance. Omar Meridith was looking about for a secure hiding place, when he saw what he thought was a large rock, about fifty feet from the still. Moving slowly through the underbrush, he reached the supposed rock, but instead found that it was a huge vat turned up on one side. He stepped on a dry twig as he peered around the side of the great box, and in an instant was almost thrown from his feet by the sudden rush of a man who had been sleeping in the tub.

The deputy dashed after the fugitive crying him to stop or he would be shot, but the man only increased his speed, dodging between the tree trunks, and was quickly lost to sight.

Capt. Yates was informed of the outlaws, and he posted his men in the best positions possible to resist a fierce fight with the moonshiners. The still was the largest ever seen in this part of the country, and Mr. Yates felt sure that the owners would make a desperate fight for their property. After waiting for an hour or more and no one coming near the still, the officers began their work of destruction.

The still had a capacity of over fifty gallons of whisky a day. Three casks and sixty feet of copper worm and five fermenting tubs, of 1,000 gallons each, were destroyed together with 3,000 gallons of beer and a great quantity of corn meal and other fixtures used in making whisky.

The operators, whoever they were, had evidently fixed themselves to stay. A good force pump and many other appliances had been rigged up to facilitate the output of illicit whisky.

Internal Revenue Agent Yates stated that the still was the largest unlicensed still he had ever seen or heard of in any county, and regards the capture as a good day's work. The man who had escaped had made himself comfortable in his mash tub and as he left rather hurriedly, he neglected to take his satchel, containing his clothes, and also a box full of provisions, even down to preserves.

The officers rode back to the railroad station without firing a shot, as they thought the shiners would embolden them and make things dance to the tune of Winchester rifle bullets—Louisville Commercial.

If you want some 'just as good' 'I make it myself,' remedy, try an imitation Rocky Mountain Tea. 'Twill make you sick and keep you sick. Ask your druggist.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of

Wm. H. Wills

Owes Much to Protection.

"The horn of the South," remarks a Southern paper, "is pouring out wealth at a rate never known before." The Southern people have acquired acquaintance with the truth, so long preached in this land to dull ears, that an agricultural community cannot become a rich community. That truth was the foundation stone in the Protective theory advanced by Alexander Hamilton, and the whole of the century-long struggle between the Protective and Free Trade doctrines was really made upon the question whether this country should supply Europe with raw materials and depend upon Europe for manufactures, or whether it should manufacture its own raw materials and keep both profits. This is the greatest manufacturing nation in the world to-day, because the instincts and the good sense of the American people taught them that the British theory was good for England, but bad for them. The South was slow in learning the lesson because it thought its monopoly of the cotton crop gave to that region special advantages. The Southern people have awakened to the truth that industrial diversity is one of the secrets of prosperity, and that where the factory and the furnace are near to the cotton field and ore bed, the producer of raw material is better off, the manufacturer is better off, and the whole community is advantaged. One way to get rich is to pocket all the profits in sight, and that is the plan South is now trying to pursue. What the fate of the American Protective system is to be cannot be conjectured; but the past is secured. To persistent adherence to that system the nation owes much the larger part of its industrial supremacy.—Philadelphia Textile Record.

Those who live on farms are liable to many accidental cuts, burns and bruises, which heal rapidly when Ballard's Snow Liniment is promptly applied. Price 25 and 50 cts. J. H. Williams.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away. To quit tobacco easily and forever, be sure and get CIGARETTES, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address: Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

If Southern statesmen improve the chance held out by an element of the Republican party to jump onto the robber tariff they will buck square against the policy and interests of Southern business men.—Little Rock (Ark.) Republican.

To Cure Constipation Forever. Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic, 35c. Box. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure Catarrh by the use of powders, acids, cathartics and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the cathartics have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and speciality of the treatment of Catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures Catarrh by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the affected parts. "Sulfi" is the Guaranteed Cathartic Cure and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"Sulfi" is the only perfect Cure ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve Hay Fever or Cold in the Head.

Catarrh when neglected often leads to Consumption. "Sulfi" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure Catarrh in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful medicine regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "Sulfi" the "Guaranteed Cathartic Cure."

Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. 1, Ed. W. B. Giles & Company, 219 and 233 Market Street, Philadelphia.

STILL DESTROYED.

Was Well Fitted up and had a Capacity of Fifty Gallons Per Day.

Only one Man Was Seen, and he Made a Successful Escape by Fleeing.

Deputy Internal Revenue Agent W. Yates returned Monday from Hardin county, where he successfully captured and destroyed the largest moonshine still that has ever been operated in this district, and possibly within the United States.

Capt. Yates, at his office here, received information from Hardin county late Friday afternoon that a still had been located in that county, and with the officer's usual promptness, by dark he was hurrying toward Big Clifty, the nearest railroad station.

Mr. Yates arrived about 11 o'clock Friday night, and was met by Collector Ben Selverge and Possemen Riley Watkins and Omar Meridith. The officers had horses awaiting them, and without loss of time mounted and began their long ride of twenty miles up Rough river to the place where the still was located, near Vertrees post-office.

Hour after hour went by, and still the revenue men rode through the moonlit forests, up steep bridge paths and through dark ravines. The country in that section being very broken and rugged, their twenty-mile ride at night was anything but sure.

About 3 o'clock Saturday morning the signal to dismount was given by the guide, and all the officers tied their horses to trees at the mouth of a dark ravine. A consultation was held and Agent Yates directed that his men push forward cautiously up the gulch and capture the operators alive, should they be at work. The moon was on a level with the tree tops, and gave but scant light to the officers on their perilous way.

The still was finally sighted, and with stealthy steps, the men crept up to the "lean-to." The place seemed deserted, and the revenue men made a circuit of the still, which was seen at once to be a very large one. After another consultation it was decided by Capt. Yates to lay in ambush and await the coming of the shiners. Some of the men had secreted themselves in positions that would give them good shots at the outlaws should they make any resistance. Omar Meridith was looking about for a secure hiding place, when he saw what he thought was a large rock, about fifty feet from the still. Moving slowly through the underbrush, he reached the supposed rock, but instead found that it was a huge vat turned up on one side. He stepped on a dry twig as he peered around the side of the great box, and in an instant was almost thrown from his feet by the sudden rush of a man who had been sleeping in the tub.

The deputy dashed after the fugitive crying him to stop or he would be shot, but the man only increased his speed, dodging between the tree trunks, and was quickly lost to sight.

Capt. Yates was informed of the outlaws, and he posted his men in the best positions possible to resist a fierce fight with the moonshiners. The still was the largest ever seen in this part of the country, and Mr. Yates felt sure that the owners would make a desperate fight for their property. After waiting for an hour or more and no one coming near the still, the officers began their work of destruction.

The still had a capacity of over fifty gallons of whisky a day. Three casks and sixty feet of copper worm and five fermenting tubs, of 1,000 gallons each, were destroyed together with 3,000 gallons of beer and a great quantity of corn meal and other fixtures used in making whisky.

The operators, whoever they were, had evidently fixed themselves to stay. A good force pump and many other appliances had been rigged up to facilitate the output of illicit whisky.

Internal Revenue Agent Yates stated that the still was the largest unlicensed still he had ever seen or heard of in any county, and regards the capture as a good day's work. The man who had escaped had made himself comfortable in his mash tub and as he left rather hurriedly, he neglected to take his satchel, containing his clothes, and also a box full of provisions, even down to preserves.

The officers rode back to the railroad station without firing a shot, as they thought the shiners would embolden them and make things dance to the tune of Winchester rifle bullets—Louisville Commercial.

If you want some 'just as good' 'I make it myself,' remedy, try an imitation Rocky Mountain Tea. 'Twill make you sick and keep you sick. Ask your druggist.

STILL DESTROYED.

Was Well Fitted up and had a Capacity of Fifty Gallons Per Day.

Only one Man Was Seen, and he Made a Successful Escape by Fleeing.

Deputy Internal Revenue Agent W. Yates returned Monday from Hardin county, where he successfully captured and destroyed the largest moonshine still that has ever been operated in this district, and possibly within the United States.

Capt. Yates, at his office here, received information from Hardin county late Friday afternoon that a still had been located in that county, and with the officer's usual promptness, by dark he was hurrying toward Big Clifty, the nearest railroad station.

Mr. Yates arrived about 11 o'clock Friday night, and was met by Collector Ben Selverge and Possemen Riley Watkins and Omar Meridith. The officers had horses awaiting them, and without loss of time mounted and began their long ride of twenty miles up Rough river to the place where the still was located, near Vertrees post-office.

Hour after hour went by, and still the revenue men rode through the moonlit forests, up steep bridge paths and through dark ravines. The country in that section being very broken and rugged, their twenty-mile ride at night was anything but sure.

About 3 o'clock Saturday morning the signal to dismount was given by the guide, and all the officers tied their horses to trees at the mouth of a dark ravine. A consultation was held and Agent Yates directed that his men push forward cautiously up the gulch and capture the operators alive, should they be at work. The moon was on a level with the tree tops, and gave but scant light to the officers on their perilous way.

The still was finally sighted, and with stealthy steps, the men crept up to the "lean-to." The place seemed deserted, and the revenue men made a circuit of the still, which was seen at once to be a very large one. After another consultation it was decided by Capt. Yates to lay in ambush and await the coming of the shiners. Some of the men had secreted themselves in positions that would give them good shots at the outlaws should they make any resistance. Omar Meridith was looking about for a secure hiding place, when he saw what he thought was a large rock, about fifty feet from the still. Moving slowly through the underbrush, he reached the supposed rock, but instead found that it was a huge vat turned up on one side. He stepped on a dry twig as he peered around the side of the great box, and in an instant was almost thrown from his feet by the sudden rush of a man who had been sleeping in the tub.

The deputy dashed after the fugitive crying him to stop or he would be shot, but the man only increased his speed, dodging between the tree trunks, and was quickly lost to sight.

Capt. Yates was informed of the outlaws, and he posted his men in the best positions possible to resist a fierce fight with the moonshiners. The still was the largest ever seen in this part of the country, and Mr. Yates felt sure that the owners would make a desperate fight for their property. After waiting for an hour or more and no one coming near the still, the officers began their work of destruction.

The still had a capacity of over fifty gallons of whisky a day. Three casks and sixty feet of copper worm and five fermenting tubs, of 1,000 gallons each, were destroyed together with 3,000 gallons of beer and a great quantity of corn meal and other fixtures used in making whisky.

The operators, whoever they were, had evidently fixed themselves to stay. A good force pump and many other appliances had been rigged up to facilitate the output of illicit whisky.

Internal Revenue Agent Yates stated that the still was the largest unlicensed still he had ever seen or heard of in any county, and regards the capture as a good day's work. The man who had escaped had made himself comfortable in his mash tub and as he left rather hurriedly, he neglected to take his satchel, containing his clothes, and also a box full of provisions, even down to preserves.

The officers rode back to the railroad station without firing a shot, as they thought the shiners would embolden them and make things dance to the tune of Winchester rifle bullets—Louisville Commercial.

If you want some 'just as good' 'I make it myself,' remedy, try an imitation Rocky Mountain Tea. 'Twill make you sick and keep you sick. Ask your druggist.

STILL DESTROYED.

Was Well Fitted up and had a Capacity of Fifty Gallons Per Day.

Only one Man Was Seen, and he Made a Successful Escape by Fleeing.

Deputy Internal Revenue Agent W. Yates returned Monday from Hardin county, where he successfully captured and destroyed the largest moonshine still that has ever been operated in this district, and possibly within the United States.

Capt. Yates, at his office here, received information from Hardin county late Friday afternoon that a still had been located in that county, and with the officer's usual promptness, by dark he was hurrying toward Big Clifty, the nearest railroad station.

Mr. Yates arrived about 11 o'clock Friday night, and was met by Collector Ben Selverge and Possemen Riley Watkins and Omar Meridith. The officers had horses awaiting them, and without loss of time mounted and began their long ride of twenty miles up Rough river to the place where the still was located, near Vertrees post-office.

Hour after hour went by, and still the revenue men rode through the moonlit forests, up steep bridge paths and through dark ravines. The country in that section being very broken and rugged, their twenty-mile ride at night was anything but sure.

About 3 o'clock Saturday morning the signal to dismount was given by the guide, and all the officers tied their horses to trees at the mouth of a dark ravine. A consultation was held and Agent Yates directed that his men push forward cautiously up the gulch and capture the operators alive, should they be at work. The moon was on a level with the tree tops, and gave but scant light to the officers on their perilous way.

The still was finally sighted, and with stealthy steps, the men crept up to the "lean-to." The place seemed deserted, and the revenue men made a circuit of the still, which was seen at once to be a very large one. After another consultation it was decided by Capt. Yates to lay in ambush and await the coming of the shiners. Some of the men had secreted themselves in positions that would give them good shots at the outlaws should they make any resistance. Omar Meridith was looking about for a secure hiding place, when he saw what he thought was a large rock, about fifty feet from the still. Moving slowly through the underbrush, he reached the supposed rock, but instead found that it was a huge vat turned up on one side. He stepped on a dry twig as he peered around the side of the great box, and in an instant was almost thrown from his feet by the sudden rush of a man who had been sleeping in the tub.

The deputy dashed after the fugitive crying him to stop or he would be shot, but the man only increased his speed, dodging between the tree trunks, and was quickly lost to sight.

Capt. Yates was informed of the outlaws, and he posted his men in the best positions possible to resist a fierce fight with the moonshiners. The still was the largest ever seen in this part of the country, and Mr. Yates felt sure that the owners would make a desperate fight for their property. After waiting for an hour or more and no one coming near the still, the officers began their work of destruction.

The still had a capacity of over fifty gallons of whisky a day. Three casks and sixty feet of copper worm and five fermenting tubs, of 1,000 gallons each, were destroyed together with 3,000 gallons of beer and a great quantity of corn meal and other fixtures used in making whisky.

The operators, whoever they were, had evidently fixed themselves to stay. A good force pump and many other appliances had been rigged up to facilitate the output of illicit whisky.

Internal Revenue Agent Yates stated that the still was the largest unlicensed still he had ever seen or heard of in any county, and regards the capture as a good day's work. The man who had escaped had made himself comfortable in his mash tub and as he left rather hurriedly, he neglected to take his satchel, containing his clothes, and also a box full of provisions, even down to preserves.

The officers rode back to the railroad station without firing a shot, as they thought the shiners would embolden them and make things dance to the tune of Winchester rifle bullets—Louisville Commercial.

If you want some 'just as good' 'I make it myself,' remedy, try an imitation Rocky Mountain Tea. 'Twill make you sick and keep you sick. Ask your druggist.

STILL DESTROYED.

Was Well Fitted up and had a Capacity of Fifty Gallons Per Day.

Only one Man Was Seen, and he Made a Successful Escape by Fleeing.

Deputy Internal Revenue Agent W. Yates returned Monday from Hardin county, where he successfully captured and destroyed the largest moonshine still that has ever been operated in this district, and possibly within the United States.

Capt. Yates, at his office here, received information from Hardin county late Friday afternoon that a still had been located in that county, and with the officer's usual promptness, by dark he was hurrying toward Big Clifty, the nearest railroad station.

Mr. Yates arrived about 11 o'clock Friday night, and was met by Collector Ben Selverge and Possemen Riley Watkins and Omar Meridith. The officers had horses awaiting them, and without loss of time mounted and began their long ride of twenty miles up Rough river to the place where the still was located, near Vertrees post-office.

Hour after hour went by, and still the revenue men rode through the moonlit forests, up steep bridge paths and through dark ravines. The country in that section being very broken and rugged, their twenty-mile ride at night was anything but sure.

About 3 o'clock Saturday morning the signal to dismount was given by the guide, and all the officers tied their horses to trees at the mouth of a dark ravine. A consultation was held and Agent Yates directed that his men push forward cautiously up the gulch and capture the operators alive, should they be at work. The moon was on a level with the tree tops, and gave but scant light to the officers on their perilous way.

The still was finally sighted, and with stealthy steps, the men crept up to the "lean-to." The place seemed deserted, and the revenue men made a circuit of the still, which was seen at once to be a very large one. After another consultation it was decided by Capt. Yates to lay in ambush and await the coming of the shiners. Some of the men had secreted themselves in positions that would give them good shots at the outlaws should they make any resistance. Omar Meridith was looking about for a secure hiding place, when he saw what he thought was a large rock, about fifty feet from the still. Moving slowly through the underbrush, he reached the supposed rock, but instead found that it was a huge vat turned up on one side. He stepped on a dry twig as he peered around the side of the great box, and in an instant was almost thrown from his feet by the sudden rush of a man who had been sleeping in the tub.

The deputy dashed after the fugitive crying him to stop or he would be shot, but the man only increased his speed, dodging between the tree trunks, and was quickly lost to sight.

Capt. Yates was informed of the outlaws, and he posted his men in the best positions possible to resist a fierce fight with the moonshiners. The still was the largest ever seen in this part of the country, and Mr. Yates felt sure that the owners would make a desperate fight for their property. After waiting for an hour or more and no one coming near the still, the officers began their work of destruction.

The still had a capacity of over fifty gallons of whisky a day. Three casks and sixty feet of copper worm and five fermenting tubs, of 1,000 gallons each, were destroyed together with 3,000 gallons of beer and a great quantity of corn meal and other fixtures used in making whisky.

The operators, whoever they were, had evidently fixed themselves to stay. A good force pump and many other appliances had been rigged up to facilitate the output of illicit whisky.

Internal Revenue Agent Yates stated that the still was the largest unlicensed still he had ever seen or heard of in any county, and regards the capture as a good day's work. The man who had escaped had made himself comfortable in his mash tub and as he left rather hurriedly, he neglected to take his satchel, containing his clothes, and also a box full of provisions, even down to preserves.

The officers rode back to the railroad station without firing a shot, as they thought the shiners would embolden them and make things dance to the tune of Winchester rifle bullets—Louisville Commercial.

If you want some 'just as good' 'I make it myself,' remedy, try an imitation Rocky Mountain Tea. 'Twill make you sick and keep you sick. Ask your druggist.

STILL DESTROYED.

Was Well Fitted up and had a Capacity of Fifty Gallons Per Day.

Only one Man Was Seen, and he Made a Successful Escape by Fleeing.

Deputy Internal Revenue Agent W. Yates returned Monday from Hardin county, where he successfully captured and destroyed the largest moonshine still that has ever been operated in this district, and possibly within the United States.

Capt. Yates, at his office here, received information from Hardin county late Friday afternoon that a still had been located in that county, and with the officer's usual promptness, by dark he was hurrying toward Big Clifty, the nearest railroad station.

Mr. Yates arrived about 11 o'clock Friday night, and was met by Collector Ben Selverge and Possemen Riley Watkins and Omar Meridith. The officers had horses awaiting them, and without loss of time mounted and began their long ride of twenty miles up Rough river to the place where the still was located, near Vertrees post-office.

Hour after hour went by, and still the revenue men rode through the moonlit forests, up steep bridge paths and through dark ravines. The country in that section being very broken and rugged, their twenty-mile ride at night was anything but sure.

About 3 o'clock Saturday morning the signal to dismount was given by the guide, and all the officers tied their horses to trees at the mouth of a dark ravine. A consultation was held and Agent Yates directed that his men push forward cautiously up the gulch and capture the operators alive, should they be at work. The moon was on a level with the tree tops, and gave but scant light to the officers on their perilous way.

The still was finally sighted, and with stealthy steps, the men crept up to the "lean-to." The place seemed deserted, and the revenue men made a circuit of the still, which was seen at once to be a very large one. After another consultation it was decided by Capt. Yates to lay in ambush and await the coming of the shiners. Some of the men had secreted themselves in positions that would give them good shots at the outlaws should they make any resistance. Omar Meridith was looking about for a secure hiding place, when he saw what he thought was a large rock, about fifty feet from the still. Moving slowly through the underbrush, he reached the supposed rock, but instead found that it was a huge vat turned up on one side. He stepped on a dry twig